The Spa and South Bay, Scarborough.—The first Spa buildings, erected in 1700, were destroyed by an irruption of the sea in 1735. Subsequent buildings were laid waste in 1806, 1825 and 1836. The new buildings were erected in the Italian style in 1880. A large and lofty Hall and Theatre are included, and from the roof of the principal block fine sea views are obtained. The medicinal springs were discovered in 1620.
